

RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short items of news gathered on the day by the Chronicle's reporters.

Several big Christmas buns are being planned by Raleigh sportsmen.

The Progressive Beneficent order will hold a meeting to-night in the court house.

The Governor yesterday appointed S. W. McKee, of Lincoln, a notary public.

The Capital club will hold its first grand reception and ball to-night in its new quarters.

The Raleigh Land and Improvement company has issued some handsome maps of the property.

The board of aldermen will hold a special session to-night, mainly for granting license to whiskey dealers.

If the good weather continues it is expected that the work of extending and widening certain streets will soon begin.

The box sheet for the Boston Symphony is at Williams & Co's store. Seats are going on a thundering boom. One of Raleigh's best audiences will greet the company.

The Raleigh street car company has 30 good work horses and mules which can now be bought at a big bargain. Look out for the chance. They are at the street car stables.

Now the awakening for the state exposition has come. If people will stay awake and bring on that enterprise, it will in turn bring another big hotel, possibly an opera house, and stir up things generally.

The fire committee of the board of aldermen held a meeting yesterday to determine whether the new fire wagon to be purchased for the Rescue company should be a one or two horse apparatus. The matter was not finally settled.

A lot of accounts, judgments, notes and overdrafts due to C. Dowd, as receiver of the State National Bank, were sold publicly at the Savings Bank yesterday. The face value of all these papers was about $100,000. The amount realized by the sale was $150.

The new "Shoo Fly" train from Weldon to Raleigh is growing immensely popular. It is proving to be the very thing many people have wanted. It leaves Weldon at 6 o'clock a. m., arriving here at 9:30 a. m. Returning it leaves Raleigh at 5 p. m., and arrives at Weldon at 8:30 p. m.

The young ladies of Peace Institute and St. Mary's school have reserved a large number of seats for the Boston Symphony orchestra concert to-morrow night. Both institutions will probably be more largely and brilliantly represented than ever before at any concert given in this city.

Stanley's great book, "In Darkest Africa," is one of the famous and favorite books of the day, and is in great demand. It is one of the books which everybody must read who aspires to be conversant with the important events of the passing day. Mrs. L. C. Miller, of this city, has local control of the sale of the book, which is being sold by subscription.

Gov. Fowle has been compelled to decline a pressing invitation to be present at the opening and dedication of the immense and grand new building just completed by the New York World. He was invited as the World's guest from the time he boarded the car until his return here; but his pressing duties, together with the exertion of attention to his legislative message, made it impossible for him to be present. The same causes have prevented him from going to the eastern part of the State to make an examination of the internal improvements in progress there.

Marriage.

There was a happy marriage in Elenor street church yesterday afternoon at four o'clock.

Mr. George L. Womble, who is a Raleigh boy, and to whom Raleigh does not yet yield her claim, though he lives in Augusta, Ga., arrived in the city this week, and at the hour and place above mentioned he was united in marriage with Miss Ava G. Gattis, daughter of W. A. Gattis, Esq., of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Watkins in the presence of a large gathering of well-wishing friends. The church had been prettily decorated for the happy event and was in sweet harmony with the occasion. Mrs. J. L. Foster gave the wedding march from the grand organ. The ushers were Messrs. John W. Cross, Ernest Martin, A. M. McPheters and W. A. Gattis. After the ceremony the bridal couple went immediately to the depot and departed for Augusta, Ga., the home of the groom. Good wishes go with them.

The Builders Must Be Busy.

Soma time ago Mayor Thompson was authorized by the city council to expend twenty-five dollars for a plan for remodeling and opening the eastern end of the market building. The amount of work involved is not immense, but so far the Mayor has tried in vain to get some one of the Raleigh builders to make a plan for the work. They all plead that they have as much as they can attend to, and actually have not the time now to make a drawing for that work. The mayor still wants a plan and will be glad to have one.

Weather Report.

COMING AND GOING.

Some of the Folks You Know and Their Doings.

Mr. Arthur Arrington is here.

Mr. J. M. Smith, of Rockingham, is in the city.

Mr. E. C. Hackney spent yesterday in the city.

Mr. W. R. Burch arrived in the city last night.

Mr. D. A. Covington is attending the Supreme court.

Mr. Bradley Saunders is here spending a few days.

Mrs. Gammon, of Durham, is visiting at the Insane Asylum.

Mrs. Eugene Morehead returned to Durham last afternoon.

Mr. P. M. Wilson returned to Winston yesterday afternoon.

Mr. F. H. Busbee has gone Cherokee county on legal business.

Col. F. A. Olds has gone down east on a little sporting expedition.

Col. John D. Shaw, of Rockingham, is attending the Supreme court.

Mr. Thos. M. Cheek, of Bingham School, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. W. Fuller, of Durham, was here yesterday on court business.

Mr. V. Ballard, of Durham, was in the city yesterday greeting friends.

Dr. B. F. Dixon was on the noon train yesterday en route for the east.

Mr. P. M. Pearsall, of Jones county, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon.

Miss Fannie Green was here yesterday for a while, and went on to Wilson to visit friends.

Mr. John R. Morris, a well known tourist, and a happy and able newspaper correspondent, is in the city.

E. W. Timberlake, Esq., of Louisville, was here yesterday. Like all our Louisville friends, he looks happier since the file meeting.

Mr. Joe F. Mewborne, a prominent business man of Kinston, passed through Raleigh yesterday en route for Winston, where he is to be married to Miss Sadie Wilson, daughter of Rev. Virgil A. Wilson.

STATE FAIR MATTERS.

Meeting of the Executive Committee—Award of Field Crop Premiums.

The executive committee of the State Agricultural Society met yesterday with a good attendance present. The meeting was called specially for the finishing up of the award of premiums for field crops exhibited at the last State fair, and that business was effected.

The final adjustment of other matters and accounts was deferred to another meeting, which will be held before the Christmas holidays. At that meeting it is expected that the new executive committee will be announced.

Yesterday, Mr. Ed. Chambers Smith, president of the State board of internal improvements, left for eastern North Carolina to make an inspection of the New Bern and Beaufort canal. This was formerly the Harlowe and Clubfoot canal in which the State held a large interest. The State agreed to transfer its interest to the Albemarle and Chesapeake canal company, of which Mr. Warren G. Elliott is president, provided that company would extend the operating facilities of the canal from New Bern to Beaufort by 1875. There is some dispute as to whether this has been done according to agreement, and the inspection is made with a view to deciding the matter.

Mr. Herbert E. Norris Married.

The CHRONICLE can announce to the many friends and acquaintances of Mr. Herbert E. Norris, that that gentleman was married in Greensboro yesterday.

The special dispatch conveying this happy intelligence, by some strange oversight, failed to give the name of the bride-elect, and it came too late for the error to be corrected over the wires, as the offices had closed for the night.

Mr. Norris and his bride have gone to New York, where they will spend about a month. Their stopping place will be the Grand Central Hotel.

SUPREME COURT.

Appeals from the 11th District disposed of on yesterday:

Hinslaw vs. Wells; dismissed for failure to print record.

Herman vs. Waits; argued by D. M. Farches, Jones, Keener and McIntosh for plaintiff, and R. Z. Linney and R. B. Burke for defendant.

Lowe vs. Elliott; petition for certiorari; argued by Batchelor and Devereux for plaintiff, and Burwell and Walker for defendant.

Sherill vs. Connor; argued by Batchelor and Devereux for plaintiff, and W. A. Hoke for defendant.

THE GREAT CONVENTION AT ASHEVILLE.

A Notable Occasion Which Will be Attended by a Large and Distinguished Gathering—Objects of the Meeting—List of State Senatorial Delegates.

There will be held at Asheville, on the 17th, 18th and 19th of this month, a great Inter State Immigration convention, at which there will be a large and distinguished attendance.

At the request of the municipality of Asheville, Gov. Fowle has sent special invitations to all United States Senators, to the Governors of all the States and to other distinguished personages to attend the convention as the guests of that city. A number have formally accepted these invitations and announced their intention of being present.

There will be large representations from nearly all the Southern States.

The occasion, in view that representative men of the South are authorized or invited to participate in the deliberations of the convention, will be an important one, scarcely ever equalled in the magnitude of the interests to be considered, and the grandeur of the objects to be obtained. These interests and these objects include everything that pertains to the advancement of the South; knowledge of its resources is to be imparted or exchanged, inducements to the investment of capital made clear, invitation to the increase of population extended, and information upon all those questions which interest the investor and the immigrant given with candid and liberal accuracy.

Raleigh is to have a good representation, and the delegates from here will look after the continuance of the main office of the association in this city.

The Governor has commissioned two delegates from each State Senatorial district as the State's delegation to the convention. Besides these, commissions have been issued to prominent members of the press, and leading and representative men both in and out of the State.

The following is the list of Senatorial appointments.
